

- Customer service
- Jobs | Cars | Homes
- Real People Real Stuff
- Place classified ad
- Search classifieds
- Search print ads
- Subscribe

Get email alerts
Report problem
Submit a news tip

- News
- Local/Regional
 - Idaho
 - Business
 - Nation/World
 - Voices
 - Handle Extra
 - Weather
 - Columnists
 - Newstracks
 - Full headline list
 - Archives

- Opinion
- Letters
 - Commentary

- Sports
- Blogs
 - Preps
 - Outdoors
 - Fantasy Sports
 - NW Sports Stats

- Community
- Legal Notice
 - For the record
 - Obituaries
 - Announcements
 - Listings

- Lifestyle
- Food
 - Travel
 - Tributes
 - Comics survey »
 - Book Club »
 - Movie listings »
 - Calendar »
 - Blogs »

- Weekly sections
- Home & Garden »
 - 7 »

- Extra
- Buy photo reprints awayfinder
 - Online Contests
 - Comics
 - Sudoku
 - Crossword
 - Down to Earth blog
 - Health
 - Spokane.net
 - Special Sections

- About us »
S-R Jobs »
Online login »
Online profile »

Read today's e-paper

SPOKESMANREVIEW.COM

Current weather: 30° F dense fog sponsored by: Foot & Ankle Clinic

single page | printer-friendly | e-mail this story

Valley verve

Attraction to color leads to lampworking

Jennifer LaRue
Correspondent
July 21, 2007

VALLEYFORD – Rudy Rooster, Chief Hot Head and Happy Checkers are names of some of Janet Crosby's creations. "I've named some Henry, Sebastian and Fenwick. Sometimes they become a series, like the Red Zinger Fish," she said.

Using a torch to melt and shape glass, Crosby, 42, creates lampwork beads, also known as torchwork or framework.

"Lampwork is an old term for glass work," Crosby said. "Back then they used an oil lamp with a foot pedal. I like the history of it."

Crosby uses a propane-oxygen torch and winds Italian glass around a stainless steel rod called a mandrel to build the initial structure of the bead. She then adds features and designs to decorate the colorful beads. Each piece makes a unique addition to earrings, bracelets and necklaces.

Her artistic endeavors began when she made jewelry pieces out of mud that she baked in the sun at the age of 6. It didn't work. "I also remember at about that age going to the Oktoberfest in Mount Angel, Ore., and being mesmerized by the frameworkers doing glass demonstrations," Crosby said. She's said she's always been fascinated with colorful and shiny things.

She went on to take art classes in junior high and high school and minored in art in college. She needed a creative outlet and focused on beads while she was in graduate (veterinary) school. With wire and tools, she taught herself to make bead jewelry.

Janet Crosby makes lampwork beads at her studio, Firefly Art Center, in Spokane Valley. The process she uses is called frameworking. Below are two of her beads: purple fantail, top, and Fenwick. The Spokesman-Review (Photos by J. BART RAYNIAK The Spokesman-Review)

Art quote of the week

"Art does not solve problems but makes us aware of their existence. It opens our eyes to see and our brain to imagine."

Magdalena Abakanowicz (1930-), sculptor

"That was 20 years ago, and since then I have explored many types of bead art," she said.

She strived to find ways to stay unique and creative. "In 2003 I began making my own glass beads to have that 'one-of-a-kind' type of art. I intended to simply make beads for my jewelry pieces, but quickly became enamored by the glass medium, making focal beads."

Now she has merged her love for animals and nature with glass, creating small works of art that represent things like fish, bugs, fireflies, chickens, dog bones and faces.

She works with glass in a barn in her Valleyford home as well as in a studio above a fish store on East Montgomery where she teaches classes on frameworking.

Her pieces sell well online and Crosby has been featured in magazines including Glass Line, Bead Unique, The Flow and Beadwork. In 2004, she was awarded Most Creative Booth at the Yuletide Juried Art Show at Spokane Art School.

A member of the Spokane Jewelers Guild, Crosby was contacted by HGTV through the guild. One of 18 area artists, Crosby demonstrated her lampworking for a show titled "That's Clever" on the Home and Garden channel. It will air sometime next spring. She made a dog bone glass bead and fried egg earrings.

"I am constantly thinking of what I want to do next in terms of color, sculpture, and how to put them all together," she said. "I eat, sleep, and dream about glass. There is never enough time to torch ... so many directions to go and things to do with glass ..."

single page |

BACK TO TOP

Go Web S-R.com Advertisement

Case no. 357 Speed Walking Champ

Use dropper to test PowerBoost™

comcast

Scores & Stats

- NFL
- NBA
- WNBA
- College Football
- MLS
- College Basketball - M | W
- Golf
- CFL
- MLB
- NHL
- AHL
- AFL
- NASCAR

NW Sports Stats

Election 2008

Videos, news and campaign notes in Spin Control 2.0 »

Cold Case stories »

Candy Rogers, 9, disappeared the evening of March 6, 1959, while selling Camp Fire mints near her home on West Mission Ave. Her murder remains unsolved »

Latest from our blogs

- » Huckleberries Online: Wild Card/Sunday - 3/16/08
- » SportsLink: Ams top Chiefs for all the marbles
- » TXT: St. Paddy's Day festivities, URU style
- » News Diary: Dramatic coverage of the Atlanta tornado
- » Parents' Council Blog: "A Boy Named Sue"
- » A Matter of Opinion: Saturday's loose thread
- » Spin Control 2.0: Hit me
- » Out On The Town: The column is safe
- More blogs »

BizFinderNW.com

- Restaurants
- Automotive
- Pets & Animals
- Retail
- Travel
- Antiques
- Home Improvement
- Arts & Entertainment
- Coupons

TOP JOBS About | More Top Jobs »

Medical Assistant Classes
Alpine College

Cash Vault Teller
Washington Trust Bank

Landscaper Needed
Click for Details

Medical Assistant
Community Health Association of Spo

Application Sys Analyst/Developer
Washington State University

Machine Labor
Click for Details

Sales Agents/Customer Svc Reprs
Center Partners

Several Positions
Okanogan Douglas Hospital

Database Administrator
Northern Quest Casino

Field/Network Engineer
Ednetics, Inc.

TOP JOB VIDEOS

Drivers
FMI Transportation

LPN
Eastern State Hospital

Resident Care Manager
ManorCare Health Services

Collections/Distribution Supervisor
City of Snoqualmie

Wireless Support/Insurance Agents
West Corporation

PROMOTIONS

The Inland Northwest Career Fair 2008
Click for Information The Inland Northwest Career Fair

March Mania Curriculum
Teachers click here to sign up

Win tickets to the hit musical "Mamma Mia!"
Click to enter

2008 International Auto Show
Click to view this years 2008 New Car Show preview

2008 Boat Show Section
Click to view this year's Boat Show Guide

Winter Awayfinder print section
See the Awayfinder website, with new interactive Mountain Map!

Employee Diversity
See Employees Committed to Diversity section.

Special offers for new subscribers
Get home delivery of the S-R.

Open House Directory
Select and map weekend open houses.

Special sections »

HOT DEALS | About

- » SHIH-TZU PUPS -CKC, black/white
2 Males, 4mos, beautiful! $300
- » Very Cute and Very Sweet
Sybil Elkins
- » 2007 Maxum SR3, 19'
Over $1000 in extras, must see!
- » Quiet Offices Close to Downtown
315 W Mission - Lindaman Building
- » 8 Units - Kettle Falls
United Country NE WA Realty